Seibert Products GmbH

Apptastic!

For many years, we at Seibert have been developing solutions that support teams in their daily collaboration – with the goal of making their work easier and more efficient. To further develop our products and apps in a more focused and effective way in the future, we are expanding our company network: Seibert Group GmbH has spun off its product development business unit and related services into an independent, wholly owned subsidiary – Seibert Products GmbH.

Why have we decided to take this step?

Seibert Group continues to grow. With the new company, we are creating a dedicated unit focused on product development and related services.

Does this result in advantages for our customers and partners, and if so, what are they?

As a smaller, leaner company, Seibert Products GmbH is able to offer increased focus, agility and responsiveness to customer and partner requests, while remaining connected and deeply integrated into the Seibert universe.

What will change for our customers, partners and suppliers? What will not?

They may need a new billing address – if so, we will contact them directly.

Legally, Seibert Products GmbH constitutes a new subcontractor for Seibert Group GmbH, but projects and apps will continue to be developed and maintained by the same people and teams that have been taking care of them in the past.

Creating the new company is primarily an internal restructuring and will not affect existing contacts and channels.

Will my contact person change?

No, your current contact person will continue to support you.

Will our currently existing contracts remain valid?

Yes, the existing contracts remain valid even without further measures. Seibert Group GmbH remains your contractual partner as well as the vendor behind the Atlassian Marketplace accounts "Seibert", "Seibert - draw.io" and "Aura Apps \(Seibert - appanvil\)".

What role will Seibert Products GmbH take on in the future?

Seibert Products GmbH will act as a subcontractor moving forward. It will be responsible for the development, operation and marketing of products and apps.
